Learn how to develop effective digital services in an Agile way with AgileDS training and certification

In our increasingly digital world, organizations across both private and public sectors are recognizing the need to develop and maintain effective digital services to support customers and citizens.

AgileDS training and certification is based on the Agile Digital Services (AgileDS) Handbook, published by the Agile Business Consortium.

Offering practical advice and guidance, the Handbook enables organizations to develop a consistent approach, common language and skilled workforce for the successful design and delivery of digital services.

Whilst the guidance can be used in isolation, it was originally developed to support the UK Government's Digital Service Standard (GDS), which has helped the UK to become a world leader in digital government.

Approved AgileDS training services are available globally via APMG's network of accredited training providers.

AgileDS training & certification will help candidates to:

▶ Understand the underpinning philosophy, principles and techniques of AgileDS in a project situation.

▶ Appropriately configure the lifecycle of an AgileDS project to a given scenario.

▶ Identify and apply popular Agile techniques in a project situation, including MoSCoW prioritisation, user experience, iterative development and timeboxing.

▶ Understand the roles and responsibilities within an Agile Digital Services project and correctly determine the appropriate personnel.

▶ Understand the mechanisms for planning, control and governance of an Agile Digital Services project.

▶ Understand how to test, estimate and measure progress in an Agile Digital Services project.

▶ Describe the Agile Digital Services approach to managing requirements.

Who Is It For?

AgileDS training and certification is aimed at practising project managers and team members working on the design, development and evolution of digital services.
